Foreword

The 1960 Yearbook Staff has presented to the best of its ability the memories cherished by each student at Lee M. Waid. We have tried to bring you a representation of the achievements, activities and events that have been engaged in by each student during this school year.

May this issue be an everlasting acknowledgment of the true friendship, the cohesive functions of the entire student body, and the unfaltering efforts of the personnel of this institution to disseminate knowledge and to perpetuate higher learning among all.

May each page help to remind you that you are leaving here to live in accordance with the highest ideals, ambitions, and desires, and to live according to the dictates of good citizenship.

To the memory of our friend and teacher, Mrs.
Gladys Banks Smith:

For her devotion to the education of students at Lee M. Waid; for her love of life; for her great spirit which lives in the hearts of those who knew her, we dedicate this yearbook.

Administration

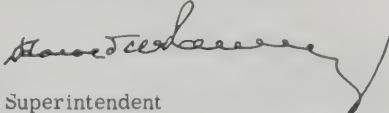

For several years we have endeavored to improve the offering in the Lee M. Waid School by increasing the number of courses taught and by enriching the courses already provided. The school building has been enlarged and additional equipment provided in order to aid the cause of instruction. The purpose of the additional facilities is to provide a setting for better classroom instruction.

The quality of teaching has been improved greatly during this period. Additional teachers with specialized training have been provided for the several courses added. Teachers already in the system have pursued additional work through extension classes and summer schools to improve their competence in their respective fields. All of this has been done with the idea of providing better instruction for the boys and girls of the county.

In order that the greatest benefit may be derived from these improvements it is necessary also that there be the fullest cooperation among the parents, the children, and the teachers. Real learning takes place when children want to learn. The attitude of the child is influenced to a large degree by the atmosphere in the home. It is hoped that with these improvements there will come an increased interest on the part of the parent and child and as a result a greater dedication to the basic purpose of schools which is increased knowledge.

It is a pleasure to offer my congratulations to the members of the senior class of the Lee M. Waid School upon their completion of the requirements for high school graduation. I extend to each of you my best wishes for success in whatever endeavor you may choose as your vocation. It is my hope that the training you have received through your school experiences will prove to be a good foundation on which you will be able to build in the future.

Superintendent

Congratulations to the Senior Class of 1960.

Once, a long time ago, at a graduation exercise, I heard an address entitled "Out of School Life into Life's School." Through the years this topic has taken on more and more significance.

Your graduation will mark only the beginning of your learning experiences. If you sustain a receptive and inquiring mind, you will discover continuous opportunity to acquire new knowledge.

My wish for each of you is that you will meet even greater success in "Life's School" than you have in "School Life."

T. A. Hartley

Director of Instruction

A black and white portrait of C.L. Atkins, a middle-aged Black man with short hair, wearing a suit and tie. He is looking slightly to the right of the camera with a serious expression.

"All is well that ends well" is a statement attributed to a famous philosopher and educator. Certainly that type of thinking can be considered very useful in our everyday lives. I believe it has a purposeful meaning in our school society.

Each year the Seniors under the careful guidance of sponsors assume the task of getting out a yearbook. It is a project which requires much time, effort, money, and responsibility to reach the desired end or goal. It involves many individuals working together collectively and individually.

We want to recognize the parts played by the parents and the business concerns throughout the community and the county. They have so graciously contributed to the completion of this project.

In conclusion, may I say that since you have had such a vigorous beginning and have carried on so well thus far, there is every reason to believe that the end will be a happy one. That the sponsors, seniors, faculty and students of the Lee M. Waid School will ever be proud of a task well done.

To all who had anything in anyway to do with its success, I am eternally grateful.

C.L. Atkins,

Class History

It was the year 1956 that one hundred freshmen entered what was then the Franklin County Training School. Every member of the class was proud to be in high school, and was very eager to meet new friends and learn who his teachers were.

The freshmen were divided into two groups with Mesdames Holmes and Keen as sponsors. Under the skillful guidance of the sponsors, we organized our classes. Elmer Tyree and Phyllis Trent were chosen Presidents of 9-A and 9-B respectively. William Board and Polly Wade represented us in the student council.

The Sophomore year, 1957, saw a decrease in number. Our Presidents were Jeanette Clements and Phyllis Trent. New subjects were in store. They were becoming increasingly more difficult. Elmer Tyree led the grand march in activities by being appointed Judge of the Student Council. Larry Turner, Benjamin David and Walter Stocall took grand honors in basketball.

The class along with the choir and biology club, took a trip to Washington, D. C. It was very exciting and informative.

Mary Ann Basham reigned as "Queen of the May" as a result of winning the talent contest sponsored by the Teachers Association. She was very beautiful in a ruffled nylon gown of blue as she watched the festivities in her honor.

The end of the school year was highlighted with a trip to Bowling Green, Virginia to support our baseball team in the VIA Tournament.

Another goal achieved - we were now Juniors and one class. Elaine Smith was chosen to lead us as President. Our boys dominated the basketball team with Spencer Berger, Donald Cooke, Benjamin David, McArthur Holland, Wallace McGhee, Walter Stovall, Larry Turner, and Robert Webb participating.

Elmer Tyree and Vivian Holland represented the biology class at Langston High School in Danville. Elmer won fourth place in the quiz.

The faculty and student body were honored by having the school named Lee M. Waid for our most prominent citizen.

The two most exciting occasions of the year were the Junior Play, "The Slabtown Convention", and the Junior-Senior Prom. The theme of the prom was "Springtime in Paris." Both activities were thoroughly enjoyed by the class.

The last rung of the ladder ---- The Senior year, found us fighting a set of standardized tests. Plans for Parents Night, the Yearbook staff, the Coronation Ball, and the much awaited graduation got underway.

A visit to the North Carolina Agricultural and Technical College was both educational and informative.

Class members participated in the work of Student Council, the Library Club, the Science Club, The Choir and many other groups. Walter Stovall was captain of the basketball team. Benjamin David, Elmer Tyree, Robert Webb and Wallace McGhee were assets to the team also.

And now tomorrow --- We look to graduation and to our places as citizens of America. May we ever live our motto, "Never dodge difficulty: Meet it; greet it; beat it."

Last Will And Testament

We, the Senior Class of 1960 of the Lee M. Waid School, being of sound mind and good judgement, and about to pass out their sphere of education in full possession of a crammed mind, well-trained memory, and almost super-human understanding, do make and publish this our Last Will and Testament.

To our dear principal, Mr. C. L. Atkins, our heartiest gratitude, and the whole unlimited wealth of our eternal memory.

To the Faculty, who has been our instructor in all the wisdom of the years, a sweet and unbroken succession of restful nights and peaceful dreams.

To our Senior Class sponsors, we bequeath our deepest appreciation for their patience and understanding.

To the Juniors, who will take our place as seniors next year, we bequeath a large collection of books which they need badly and will learn to respect.

To the Sophomore class, we bequeath our knowledge and the ability to look and act intelligently.

To the unsophisticated freshmen, we bequeath our ability to act like ladies and gentlemen.

To the Eighth graders, we bequeath all our lost books, bad report cards and "cut" classes.

Patricia Arrington, wills to whomever needs it, her soft, sweet and pleasant voice.

Mary Basham, wills to Irene Perdue her singing ability.

Janette Clements wills to Clara Clements, Susie Cooke and Emma Helms her Perfect attendance record. "Keep it girls and Don't break it."

Emma Holland wills her ability to find a true lover to Beulah James and Florence Muse.

Vivian Holland, wills her baby voice to whomever needs it.

Darlene Kasey wills her ability to keep a boyfriend to Barbara J. Starkey.

Mary Kasey wills her headaches and pleasant smiles to Mavis Claytor.

Rebecca Mack wills her cleverness, knowledge and ability to influence people to her way of thinking to Juanita Muse and Margie Kirby.

Martha Moorman wills to Nancy Gray and Arnold Patterson the desire to pay all "Debts" when due.

Mable Patterson wills to Connie Cooke and Ervin Kidd her ability to keep more orderly on the bus.

Ruth Patterson wills to Danny Witcher and Bill Craighead her ability to control their temper on the bus.

Barbara Witcher, wills her art ability to Moses Witcher, also her sewing ability to Flora Witcher.

Gearldine Witcher, leaves to her cousin, Carrie Woody her ability to play the "Great Lover" with Danny Witcher.

Caroldeen Witcher, wills to whomever needs it her ability to play it cool with the boys, "But you got to know the trick."

Peggy Wright, wills her speaking voice to Elaine Wright.

Nancy Turner, wills to Melvin Tyree, Duane Brooks and Buford Early the better things in life.

Elaine Smith, leaves to James Swaine her height; and to Bennie Mattox her love and affections.

Norma J. Taylor, leaves to Rosetta Tunning her locker and everything that is in it.

Shirley Terry, bequeath to Hester Brooks and Betty Tolliver her resistance chasing boys.

Lassie Toney, leaves to Lillie P. Smith her ability to be cool with the boys and still get "Attention."

Phyllis Trent, wills to whomever needs it her scholastic ability.

Margaret Turner, wills her Geometry book to Dee Saunders with hope that he will put it to better use than she did, and to Claudine Gray, her everlasting smile.

We'll Be Friends So True

Tune: Smoke Gets in Your Eyes

Though, childhood days have flown, and of course we're grown; oh, oh, still we can't forget, how our hearts were set, days when we first met.

We've had our ups and downs, sometimes wearing frowns; oh, oh, but when frowns were gone smiles still lingered on, we were not alone.

Yesterdays have come and gone so fast, we tried to do, our parts-but we'll keep the memories of the past; somewhere within our hearts.

Though, friends may come and go, this we'll always know; oh, oh, skies aren't all ways blue, no matter what we do; we'll be friends so true; we'll be friends so true; we'll be friends so true.

Class Prophecy

I, Janette Clements, your prophetess of the class of 1960, bid you listen to words of wisdom. I shall speak what was revealed unto me as I looked into the land of the future. I see men and women, who were once my classmates at Waid now changed into citizens of the world outside and making quite a success of their lives.

I can see Mary Basham, a famous singer, under contract with Columbia records. My vision now searches into the city of New York. There on 5th Avenue is a famous artist, Barbara Witcher, just returning from Spain where one of her sketches won first place in the National Art Contest.

Imagine Now! Larry Turner, a successful manager of the 220 Club. His assistant's are Shirley Terry and Lassie Toney.

Among the most prominent Negro teachers of Virginia are Mary Kasey, a History teacher, graduated from UCLA in Los Angeles, California; McArthur Holland, a Biology teacher, graduated from Howard University, Washington.

It started four long years ago; now they have reached their goal, Bobby Taylor, Billy Muse, and Richard Claytor were successful in launching a man into space and returning him safely back to earth.

I see some of the finest mechanics- Yes! They are Leo Taylor and Earlie Cobbs.

She got it at last, after going through many hardships, Rebecca Mack is now in New Jersey working as a private secretary to William Young, who is the President of Esso Standard Oil Company.

In the small state of Rhode Island, many buildings are being erected. I see two carpenters doing fine work on them. They are none other than Charlie Brown and James Wade.

Geraldine Witcher, Norma Taylor, Emma Holland and Patricia Arrington are secretaries for the Atlantic Life Insurance Company in Phoenix, Arizona.

Now I see three young ladies walking around the campus at Columbia University. They are Phyllis Trent, Nancy Turner, and Peggy Wright. The President of the National Broadcasting Company is Walter Stovall. His secretary is none other than Vivian Holland.

Leo Taylor and Will Mose Cooke are Disc Jockeys for Randy's Record Shop. The Patterson girls, Ruth and Mabel work for Whirling Modeling Company. Darlene Kasey is now a manicurist at an exclusive shop in Massachusetts. Margaret Turner and Elmer Tyree are owners of the largest dance studio in Baltimore, Maryland.

Now to my amazement, I see, located in the city of Chicago, Eugene Mason, a salesman for the Ford Motor Company. Elaine Smith is the stenographer for a famous young doctor, William Board.

Wallace McGhee and Robert Webb are now very successful infielders for the Los Angeles, California Dodgers. Martha Moorman and Caroldeen Witcher have just finished their latest Broadway musical entitled "Leave Before Its Too Late". Janette Clements is now a surgical nurse at the Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, D. C.

Hail to "Miss Senior"
Janette Rebecca Clements

Selected as a contestant by popular vote of her supporters because of her beauty, charm and popularity. She won through the effort of her supporters selling votes to the ball. Miss Senior is the perfect answer to the demand of her subjects for the finest in the land to represent them.

The daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Harry E. Clements, Janette plans to become a surgical nurse.

Miss Senior at office practice.

Miss Senior and friends.

Hail to Miss Lee M. Waid and her attendants

We have presented to the best of our ability The Hawk of 1960. It has been a worth while experience for us. We have had many long hard days of work trying to get the material organized for this annual. The work is now over and we feel that it has been well worth the time and effort.

We would like to give recognition to the following students for their work:

Photography: Walter Stovall, Patricia Arrington and Mary Smith.

Dummy: Nancy Turner and Margaret Turner.

Advertisements: Mary Smith, Peggy Wright, McArthur Holland, Elmer Tyree, Walter Stovall, Janette Clements, Nancy Turner and Margaret Turner.

Subscriptions: Vivian Holland, Rebecca Mack, Barbara Witcher and Ruth Patterson.
